Forty Fort, O Forty Fort High School . . .

MISS ANNA JONES

By administrative appointment Miss Jones became an advisor of the Class of 1956 when we entered tenth grade. Our relationship has run the usual course experienced by all classes and their advisors. There have been times when we have not seen eye to eye, Miss Jones, but these have been more than offset by your personal efforts to make class projects achieve goals. For your part in guiding our steps aright through three years of senior high we, the Class of 1956, express sincere thanks to you, Miss Anna Jones.

OUR ADVISORS

MR. PAUL KRAYER

By similar administrative action Mr. Paul Kraye shared the advisorship of our class with Miss Jones. Just as Miss Jones did not use her duties in Room 11 and at "Rec" Center as excuses to neglect our class, so Mr. Kraye has found time, from a busy schedule of teaching in the grades and high school plus coaching varsity basketball and intramural sports, to cooperate with Miss Jones in all class affairs. For his share of counsel, guidance, and good will, we, the Class of 1956, use this space to say, "Thank you, Mr. Kraye."

BOARD OF SCHOOL DIRECTORS, PLANNERS OF OUR STEPS

William E. Griffith, President; Miller S. Frederick, Bruce G. Blackman, Noel Thomas, Frank R. Wallace, Charles D. Lemmond.

Absent when picture was taken: Sterling A. Wagner, Vice President; Herman E. Plieskatt, Secretary; H. Lane Glidden, Treasurer; James P. Harris, Solicitor; Stanley K. Walborn, Architect.

The steps of all students in the Forty Fort School District are turned toward greater opportunities in education by these civic-minded men. For their efforts in obtaining the best in every phase of our school lives, the Class of 1956 wishes to thank the Board of School Directors.

MR. FRANK W. WALP

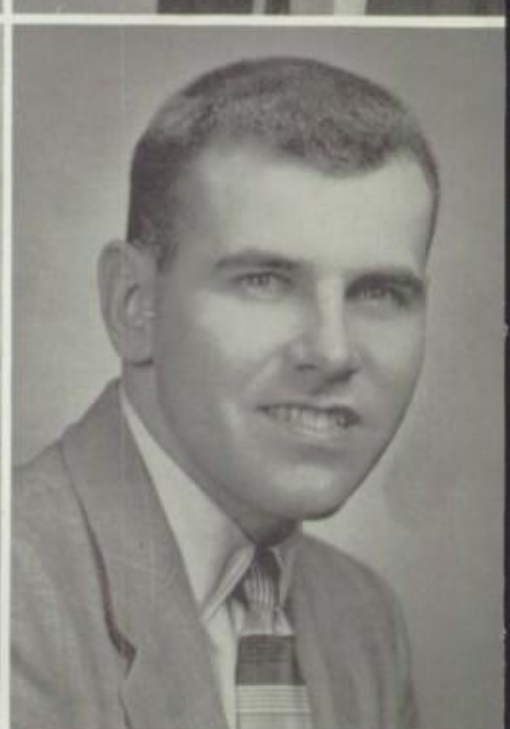

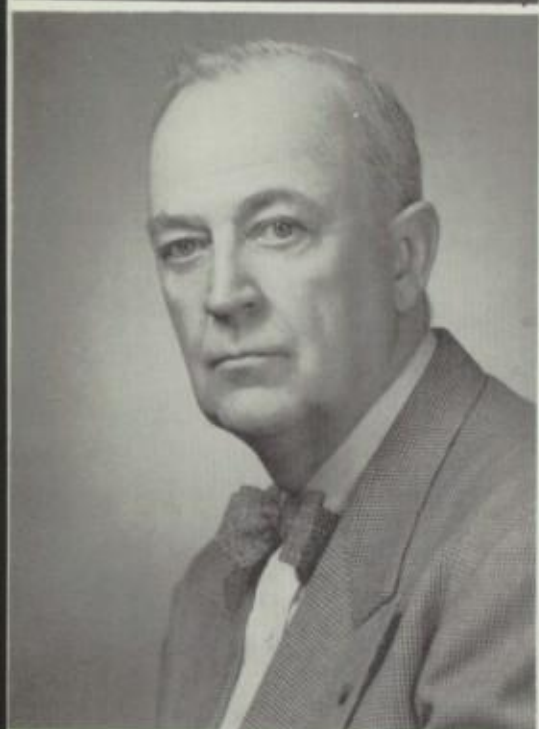

Elementary grades were characterized by ever-lengthening strides, from our short wee steps as first-graders to our elongated pace as sixth grade residents. This is to express our appreciation to Mr. Frank W. Walp, who supervised our ever-changing gait.

OUR ADMINISTRATION

MR. L. C. BUBECK

Junior-Senior high school saw our eager-beaver steps in seventh grade slow down to the stately shuffle of aging seniors. For his supervision of this contrast from fast to measured steps, we shall be ever grateful to Mr. L. C. Bubeck.

Without the guidance of the faculty of Forty Fort High School, our paths would not have been nearly so wide, so straight, or so clear. We have been led, not only in the ways of learning, but along the roads of citizenship and practical experience—all valuable parts of our education. We have received the help of faculty members for our class projects and our extracurricular interests. They have taken to heart our problems, both personal and academic. Perhaps our best way of expressing our sincere thanks is by staying on the paths along which we have been started.

SENIORS

NORMAN THOMAS CRAVER

President of the Senior Class

Aggressiveness, undoubtedly stemming from his Celtic Welsh blood, has been Tom's outstanding characteristic. In football, in addition to serving as co-captain, he won the unique distinction of being selected to the position of center on two West Side Conference All-Star Teams in both 1954 and 1955, by the players on the conference teams and by the Sunday Independent of Wilkes-Barre, respectively. In wrestling he was undefeated during the regular season of 1954 and he emerged as runner-up in the 133 pound class of District 2, P.I.A.A.

This year he has capably filled the exacting office of class president, guiding our steps in the rapid course of events which constitute the senior year and of which graduation is the memorable climax. Also, he has been very helpful in promoting the best interests of the school as an active member of the Student Council.

The Class of 1956 takes this means of saluting Tom for his steady "drive" that made possible the progress of our steps in senior year in achievement of goals and in service to the school.

OUR CLASS LEADERS

ROBERT COLLINS MACK

President of the Student Council

Bob's long list of services to Forty Fort High School begins early in seventh grade and extends step by step through junior and senior high. Aside from a perfectly normal human desire to achieve, Bob can be said to have genuinely wanted to help his school, his class, his homeroom.

Versatility describes his school life as proved by such things as football managerships, class dance committeeman, American Legion Award, wrestling squad member, dramatics, tenth grade class president, Sports Editor of RED AND WHITE and THE FORT, softball team member, representative to two P.A.S.C. conventions, and student-of-the-month.

His greatest strides have been taken in the ascent to Student Council activity. At the close of his sophomore year, he was elected to the junior year office of vice presidency. Senior year has seen him bring to the office of president the qualities of leadership, firmness, co-operation. His gavel has not sounded a harsh "Do this" but rather the inviting challenge "Let's do it together." No student council president has left worthier steps to be followed than Bob Mack.

Stamina and the will to win drove the Flyers to a second place tie in the West Side Conference. Grueling summer practice sessions led by our able co-captains, Tom Craver and Bill Thomas, brought about many obstacles—injuries. The Flyers went on to obtain a 5-5 record. The record was better than it sounds, for the teams victorious over the Flyers had to put down a determined dynamo. How can any of the seniors leaving this year forget the high spirits at the Bloomsburg game, the closeness of the Shickshinny game, and the heartbreak of the West Pittston game? As in the past, the Flyers were well represented in individual honors. The press and the coaches made a wise choice in placing Tom Craver as first team center, Dick Rimple, Harry Lewis, and Tom Lewis also gained honors and mention. Another step was made into the future by the creation of a junior high team. We know this will lead to future commendable Forty Fort gridiron teams.

TRACK FLYERS SHOW SPEED

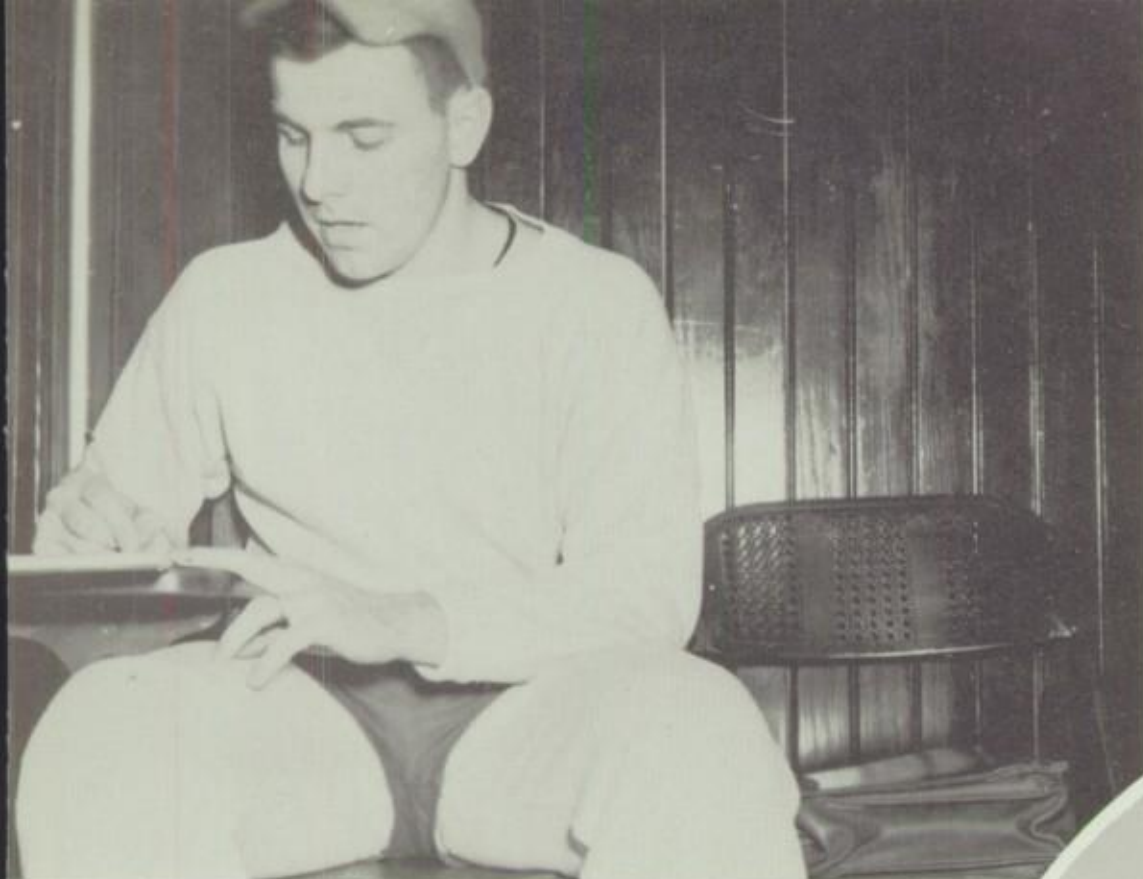

The track Flyers showed plenty of speed and ability in emerging with an undefeated season and copping the second place trophy in the district meet. Co-Captained by Craig Beach, the distance runner, and Ed Margavage, the field general, the Flyers pulled many meets out of the fire in the last few events. The real speed of the team was distributed among Tom Lewis, Harry Lewis, Dick Rimple, and Jim Ford, not excluding the fast finishes by Bob King. The weight department was held down by Lee Davis and George Keiper, while Margavage, Andy Larko, and Joe Kren kept the Flyers in the running in other field events. The Flyers took another big step by taking their share of titles at districts. Don't think the boys relaxed over the summer. No sir, some of them lent their talents in helping Wilkes-Barre to a victory in the Junior Olympics competition.

A young determined team represented Forty Fort in the Valley Basketball League. Their lack of manpower was the main reason in stopping them from a successful season. Co-Captains Jim Ford and Joe Kren led the team, made up of juniors and one senior (Paul Murphy), into close and exciting games.

In Kren, Forty Fort had one of the best rebounders in the Valley. Ford turned out to be a top scorer and an all-around cager. With these two boys and Tom Lewis, Jerry Patyk, and Andy Larko, Coaches Krayner and Herrold expect big things next season. Since these boys have been working together for the past few years, we know that next season will be much more productive.

For the second consecutive year, a well-balanced Forty Fort wrestling team won the Wyoming Valley Wrestling League Title. Captained by Dick Rimple, runner-up for the George Hopper Memorial Trophy, the Flyers posted seven wins in ten contests. The most satisfying victory, of course, was the 22-21 triumph over Kingston. In the final bout of this meet, Bill Thomas duplicated Bill Pickering's effort of last year and ensured victory for the team.

Three seniors carried the Flyer's banner into post-season tourneys. In the Districts Bill Thomas and Tom Craver were victorious until the final bouts in their classes. Dick Rimple was the District II champion in the 127-pound competition and placed second in the regionals. Other senior matmen were Bob Mack, 112; Dick Gromelski, 112; Bill Miller, 120; and Bob King, 138.

With several returning veterans and a number of promising reserves, prospects are bright for future championship teams.

The Forty Fort High School Student Council is well known throughout the state for its fine work and excellent organization. Our council, led this year by Robert Mack, has taken long strides toward the betterment of our school and its activities.

Along with organizing the annual All-School Play Contest, the Student Council helped the school and its students by managing the lunch room and promoting the Christmas Decoration Contest. An innovation of the council was the writing of a new fight song which was used at the winter sporting events.

Guiding the steps of the Council are its very capable advisors, Miss Kathleen Stack and Mr. Gomer J. Williams, who have given untiring effort toward its improvement.

OUR STEPS IN EIGHTY PAGES

EDITORS: Mary Frances Swigert, Darla DuRoss. Working diligently at every meeting, Mary and Darla have helped each staff with its jobs. The completed yearbook is a credit to their efforts and abilities.

ART STAFF: Jane Wellhofer, Editor; Ellenita Newcomb, Mary Alice Griffith, Jane Wellhofer, Miss Maurer, Suzanne Layton, Judith Wright.

With the efforts of our staffers and the red pencil of Miss Maurer, the design of our yearbook took shape. The artistic touch is just the perfect topping for THE FORT.

BUSINESS STAFF: William Miller, Editor; Robert King, Elaine Gramley, William Miller, Richard Rimple. Absent: Daniel Brace.

Promoting sales and soliciting patrons were the jobs of our Business Staff. As a result of their efforts, our yearbook was a financial success.

LAYOUT STAFF: Sally Riefenstahl, Editor; Thomas Craver, Paul Murphy, Douglas Learn, Brenda Stoneham, Sally Riefenstahl. Absent: Clyde Spoots.

Where to place the contents of THE FORT was the problem of the Layout Staff, who did a magnificent job. Long nights were spent solving the spacing problem and cropping pictures.

LITERARY STAFF: William Bonham, Editor; Patricia Roarty, Joan Wasserott, Joan Heydon, Grace Corcoran, Virginia Laines, Robert Mack, William Bonham.

Ideas were born every minute as the Literary Staff struggled to invent new and catchy phrases for the posterity of the printed word. Through the much-appreciated assistance of the dictionary and our two advisors, the staff has done an expert job.

Everyone always smiled when our Photography Staff directed, "Watch the birdie!" Snapping the "pics" for THE FORT took capable people. The results of their ability and know-how are displayed on this, as well as many other pages.

PRODUCTION STAFF: Jeanne Senghaas, Editor; Jackelyn Senghaas, Sandra Gray, William Thomas, Rhonwyn Davies, Jeanne Senghaas, Ruth Ann Rundle, Dorothy Hosey.

The clicking of typewriter keys exemplified the industry and efficiency with which our Production Staff put the finishing touches on THE FORT. Many hours were spent meeting deadlines and overcoming obstacles to make our yearbook a success.

ADVISORS: Miss Stack, Mr. Williams

Lending their talents to all staffs, Miss Stack and Mr. Williams were always ready with the words of encouragement and guidance which were so helpful in the building of THE FORT.

First row: J. Wright, H. Vincent, S. Riefenstahl, S. Kupperman, J. Wasserott, P. Roarty. Second row: D. DuRoss, R. Mack, D. Moyer, W. Miller, D. Thomas, R. Morgan, Miss Handlong.

The First Step

CLASS HISTORY

OUR STEPS

With its premiere in 1953, Troupe 1956 established itself as a group with a brilliant future. Miss Anna Jones and Mr. Paul Krayner took on the task of directing our troupe. When tryouts were completed, Robert Mack emerged in the leading role, with Jane Wellhofer as his co-star. Grace Corcoran handled the correspondence for the cast, and Richard Rimple managed the financial affairs.

As the curtain opened, on stage appeared several members of the troupe in Five for Bad Luck, our sophomore entry for the All-School Play Contest. With Mary Frances Swigert in the featured role of a small town girl who "turned the tables" on Richard Cain, a sophisticated college sophomore, our first production was a great success.

During the second act the scene shifted from one athletic event to another. Many members of the cast were depicted as athletes, boosting the school's name in interscholastic sports.

The third act showed the cast with shoes in hand, enjoying a social "Sock Dance," which brought the curtain down on a most successful season.

Before breaking up for the off-season vacation, the troupe enjoyed the annual outing, held this year at Hickory Run State Park. During the vacation many members of the cast could be seen leisurely swimming at the pool or gathering at Martins' to discuss next season's production by Troupe 1956.

After three months of delightful summer recreation, the troupe jumped eagerly into a year of performing. The major role for this year's production was filled by Richard Shemo, with Joan Heydon as his leading lady. Grace Corcoran and Richard Rimple retained their positions as secretary and financial director.

The first act was resplendent with the colorful reds and yellows of autumn as the members of the cast took part in the "Mr. Touchdown Dance." Stepping into the spotlight was Ruth Ann Rundle, chairman of this traditional event. As the curtain closed, the evening was acclaimed a success.

All eyes turned to view The Story of a Dead Woman, the cast's contribution to the 1955 All-School Play Contest. For her superb acting, Sally Riefenstahl received the award for the outstanding performer, and the cast received congratulations for a splendid production.

Act two opened with a three-act drama entitled Old Doc; for his realistic portrayal of a country doctor, Richard Shemo won the plaudits of all.

The final step in this year's production centered around Neptune's Kingdom, theme of the Junior Prom. Soft blues and greens blended into the shimmering aquatic atmosphere. Romantic music by Al Anderson's Orchestra accompanied the dancing guests. The crowning of the queen, Mary Lou Newcomb, a senior, was the highlight of the evening.

After completing their second season, the members of Troupe 1956 adjourned to enjoy their vacation. During the months that followed, they could be seen enjoying themselves at the pool, tennis court, or park.

In September, 1955, the members of the troupe stepped into position for their final engagement. The title role was held by Thomas Craver, with William Bonham as the supporting actor. Grace Corcoran continued to do an excellent job of handling the correspondence for the troupe, and William Miller was named financial manager.

As the curtain rose, the spotlight fell on the excitement of a pep meeting. Joan Wasserott and Darla DuRoss, assisted the students in a tribute to the Flyers. That evening at the football game, the snappy majorettes—Ruth Ann Rundle, Jeanne and Jackelyn Senghaas, and Judith Wright—set the pace for the band as it marched briskly down the field. Joan Heydon, band president, was justly proud of the spirited-playing instrumentalists.

The curtain closed for a brief interlude, then opened on the successful performance of Time Out for Ginger, Darla DuRoss was the teen-age "dynamo" who finally succeeded in gaining a position on the varsity football squad. Robert Mack and Sally Riefenstahl added to the hilarity of the play as Ginger's distraught parents.

Taking time out from busy rehearsals, the cast stepped into the wonderland of the Winter Fantasy presented by the Y-Teens, under the leadership of Jackelyn Senghaas. The dance was supported by various organizations including the Hi-Y under the direction of Edward Hutter. The affair was given excellent coverage by the press agents of the troupe, Ellenita Newcomb and Elaine Gramley.

The feverish preparation for The Devil and Daniel Webster was the opening note of the second act. Members of the cast of whom we were especially proud were William Bonham as Daniel Webster; David Thomas, the Devil; Judith Wright; and Richard Shemo. The All-School Play Contest was under the direction of the Student Council, with Robert Mack as president.

Practice continued smoothly until the beginning of May, when several members of the troupe put aside their playbooks to participate in the Band Concert. A few weeks later the troupe, in a change of costumes, stepped out for a night of dancing at the gaily decorated Junior Prom.

In the final act the members of the cast assembled for Award Day. As several members of the troupe received their hard-earned letters, the others looked on proudly. The captains of our successful teams were William Thomas and Thomas Craver, football, and Richard Rimple, wrestling.

The scene moved rapidly to the solemn atmosphere of the Sermon to the Graduates. Class Day soon followed with members of the cast feverishly signing yearbooks. Darla DuRoss and Mary Frances Swigert did a very commendable job as editors of the memoirs of Troupe 1956.

As the curtain rose for the final time on the members of the cast, they appeared in cap and gown to receive their diplomas. The members of the troupe had reached the long-awaited goal. When they walked proudly down the aisle, they knew that although each one would soon embark to play an individual role elsewhere, nothing could ever replace the experiences they had shared together.

SECRETARIES

Our steps have taken us many times into the high school office. Whether we were answering a summons or making a voluntary entrance, we were greeted, Miss Messinger and Miss Thomas, by one of you. We Seniors wish to acknowledge with gratitude all your services and favors. Your efficient operation of the school office is outstanding even in a borough so well managed as Forty Fort.

Miss Ida Messinger,
Miss Melba Thomas

Mr. Edmund Kent, Mr. William Beach, Mr. Miles Lamoreaux

CUSTODIANS

Steps, steps, and more steps! Through five entrances they have admitted us into the building. They have made it possible to reach second floor from first. When we have wanted to go to the shop, athletic equipment room, or the shower, steps have led us there. Likewise, steps have taken us from the auditorium level to the stage for chapel announcements, for plays and programs. Why all this fuss about steps? Just this. It enables us to say to you who have kept all steps of our school building in good repair and neat appearance, "Thanks, Doc; thanks, Miles, and you, too, Bill."
